St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati to Be Their Opponents-Ought to Win a Majority of the Remaining Nine Games Before Returning to Washington-Baseball Notes.

By winning from Chicago yesterday the Washingtons succeeded, for the first time since the season opened, in taking two out of three games from any one team, and it is hoped that they will not only keep up . the good work, but improve right along, so that by the time they return home on June 2 they will have struck their proper gait.

Three out of nine games with such teams as Pattsburg, Cleveland, and Chicago is not a bad record for a club playing away from s bad record for a club playing away.

home, but it is not too much to expect the Senstors to win at least five out of the remaining nine games to be played on the trip, as St. Louis, Louisville, and Cincinnati will be their opponents.

Von der Ahe's German Band without "Preize!" Freitenstein, is not considered the warmest thing that ever happened, are an uncertain quantity, playing in what might be termed in and out style, and 0 mors should be easy in the Kentucky

When the Senators meet the Cincinnati Club the latter will be preparing to bid home and friends good-by, and the "yellow strenk" that is said to be concealed somewhere in the make-up of the Perkopolitans should be coming to the surface. The Schmelates ought to be able to land one game there under any circumstances, provided, of course, they put up a creditable game themselves.

Of the contestinthe Windy City yesterday the least said the better, as the figures in the error column would not even do credit to amateurs. Two facts, however, are very apparent- Mercer is not pitching in good form, and Cartweight is getting his eye on the ball. The former fact is very much to be regretted, but the black-haired twirier can be depended upon to round to shortly. The Senators play the Browns in the

A Chicago Baseball Writer Tells an

Amusing Story About "Zeke." The Chicago Times-Herald publishes i laughable story about the way Wrigley was signed. When Mr. Staffel, the operator at National Park, who really covered "Zeke," reads the item, he will be much amused. The story reads:

Since the Washingtons arrived an interesting story has leaked out of how Wrigley was signed. Manager Schneiz was ap-proached one day by an individual who had the cormarks of anything but a ball play-cr. He confided he wanted a position with the team.

'Doing what?" asked Schmelz "Playing ball, of course," replied the Well-get into a suit and I will see what you can do in practice," was the invita-tion, as Schmelz smiled to himself. The word was tipped off to the Senate rial timber, and the players all gathered for a lark at the expense of the newcomer. Yesterday was a great day at Sultland | Wrigiey, lowever, had ideas of his own. | He went around the bases in fine style and made the others look like novices in fielding. Nothing was too hot for him. Wrigley also batted in fine style, fitting almost everything pitched.

"Well, what do you want to play for?" asked the abashed Schmelz, after the satisfactory trial-

"I thought myself about as good as those fellows after seeing them practice, and I suppose I should receive about the

"But how are you in a game?" remon strated the manager of "those fellows"
"Just as good," nonchalantly replied Wrigley.

He was signed and has been playing a wonderful game since the sickness of a regular man gave him a chance.

To all inquiries as to where he learned to play Wrigley replies: "Down in Virginia." He is practically an "unknown" in the baseball world, but has proved a "fin l." His batting brought in six runs Thursday

WHERE NATURE RULES.

Conventionality Laid Aside When the Baseball Park Is Entered.

The Chlcago News says that if there is anything that tickles the student of human nature it is an afternoon at the ball park, with perhaps less attention to the game than to the catcalls and vociferations of the other people there assembled. Men who would ask a writ of de lunatico in-quirendo for themselves if they should break loose on the street and shout audibly will get up on a chair at the ball park or dance along the bleachers and say the most idiotic asininities with the utmost innocence of the fact that they are making large ecru colored monkeys of themselves It is, indeed, a place where conventionality doesn't go, and where nature rules su-

Two teams felt the sting of defeat at the hands of the Vigilant Ball Club yesterday, the first one being the Potomacs champion of last year's Times League, who were defeated by a score of 11 to 10, being one of the most hotly contested games ever seen on the amateur field. The features of the two games were the batting of Thompson and phenomenal fielding of F. Winkleman for the winners. The O. A. C. Club was defeated in the afternoon by the Vigilants, the score being 14 to 2. Pumphrey pitched a fine game for the victors.
